PART III. READING COMPREHENSION:

Ouestions 1 - 5 refer to the following passage.

In 1723 there arrived in Philadelphia a penniless young man, eager for work and for knowledge. As the years passed, this man, Benjamin Franklin, contributed greatly to his city and to his country. He became a printer and publisher, and a learned man in many subjects. He also helped to spread learning by establishing a public library and by founding the American Philosophical Society, which is an important academy of scholars to this day. Franklin initiated many improvements in the city of Philadelphia, making it one of the world's first cities to have paved and lighted streets as well as a police force and a fire-fighting company. He also made many practical inventions such as the Franklin stove, which was a very efficient heater, and the lighting rod to protect buildings in electric storms. His scientific work with electricity earned Franklin world fame. Franklin played an important role in the early history of the United States. He took part in drawing up the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution. He was the first ambassador to France, and he helped negotiate the treaty of 1783 which ended the Revolutionary War.

As an active member and as president of the Abolitionist Society, Franklin devoted the last years of his life to movement to end slavery.

Questions 6 - 10 refer to the following passage.

The man who made and lost a fortune manufacturing kitchen furniture is back in business again. Thirty-seven-year-old Timothy Lindlaw is now designing furniture for offices - from the director's suit to the secretarial office. Lindlaw had always had a lot of good ideas. After he had run a highly successful computer business for two years, he started his second business in a small garage, selling and installing kitchen furniture. He had made his million pounds by the time he was thirty. Then he went on to earn over five million pounds in three years. But, after quarrelling with the managers of his company, he suddenly dismissed them. Within six months the business had gone bankrupt. And so had Lindlaw.

'I had made five million pounds before things began to go wrong,' he said. 'I was just unlucky to it later. All companies go through good times and bad times. Now I've learnt several lessons which I never forget.' He said that he had decided to call his new company 'Office-Fit' and was already successful.

Lindlaw said that it was a market worth hundreds of millions. He added that, until he started, no one had ever thought of designing and supplying furniture for whole business companies, according to their individual requirements.

6. The whole article is about

- A. a man with different kinds of jobs
- B. a businessman with his ups and downs in business
- C. how to design furniture
- D. how to do a computer business

7. According to Lindlaw, designing and supplying furniture is_

- A. unlucky
- C. worth a lot of money

- B. necessary for every company
- D. making him bankrupt

8. Which one is FALSE according to the article?

- A. Lindlaw is now unemployed.
- B. He has had at least two businesses.
- C. Once something wrong happened to his business.
- D. He had earned a lot of money.

9. Which statement is TRUE according to the article?

A. He is making computers for offices.

- B. He had already had a successful business before the second one.
- C. Now his business doesn't go smoothly.
- D. He is always an unlucky businessman.

10. The word 'dismissed' in paragraph 1 means_____.

- A. admitted an employee to a position
- B. removed an employee from a position
- C. offered an employee a high position
- D. quarreled with an employee

Questions 11 - 15 refer to the following passage.

The United State has been criticized for its treatment of its elderly citizens. Although in many other countries the elderly usually live with their children's family. Many older Americans live alone, without the close companionship of their children. This situation is sometimes blamed on the "selfishness" of the younger generation but a closer look shows that many of the elderly prefer to maintain their independent lives.

Research on the situation of the elderly in America has shown that while grandparents are delighted to be visited periodically by their children and grandchildren, they prefer to continue living in the surrounding that they are familiar with. This suggests that children should permit their parents to live alone if they wish to, and should encourage them to maintain close ties to the rest of the family.

Another surprising result of the research on the elderly in the United States has been the very positive influence which pets have been found to have on the elderly people that they live with. It have been shown that elderly people who care for small pets, such as cats or dogs, live longer, are healthier, and have better attitudes towards their lives than similar elderly people without these companions.

11. Many elderly Americans live

A. without satisfaction	B. by themselves

C. a lonely life D. a simple life

12. What do some people see as the cause of this situation?

- A. The society of the USA treats its elderly people as troubles.
- B. The young people usually trouble the elderly of their own.
- C. The government concerns hardly about the elderly people.
- D. The young people are too selfish.

13. Many of the elderly Americans want to_

- A. keep living in their well-known places and conditions
- B. remain with their grandchildren in their houses
- C. remove to their sons' or daughters' home
- D. live with their friends in their hometown

14. The author advises the young people to _

- A. keep close ties the elderly of their own
- B. let the elderly of their families live by themselves
- C. respect the wishes of their elderly parents
- D. permit their elderly relatives to raise some pets

15. The author's main though is that____

- A. the elderly who care for some pets live longer
- B. the social practice in the USA makes the elderly live alone
- C. the elderly people should have better attitudes towards their lives
- D. it is a social tradition that the elderly Americans enjoy the self-directing lives

Ouestions 16 - 20 refer to the following passage.

In the primary school, a child is in a comparatively simple setting and most of the time forms a relationship with one similar teacher. On entering secondary school, a new world opens up and frequently it is a much more difficult world. The pupil soon learns to be less free in the way he speaks to teachers and even to his fellow pupils. He begins to lose gradually the free and easy ways of the primary school, for he senses the need for a more cautious approach in the secondary school where there are older pupils. Secondary staff and pupils suffer from the pressures of academic work and seem to have less time to stop and talk. Teachers with specialist roles may see hundreds of children in a week, and a pupil may be able to form relationships with very few of the staff. He has to decide which adults are approachable; good schools will make clear to every young person from the first year what guidance and personal help is available – but whether the really of life in the institution actually encourages requests for help is another matter.

Adults often forget what a confusing picture school can offer to a child. He sees a great deal of movement, a great number of people – often rather frightening-looking people – and realizes that an increasing number of choices and decisions have to be made. As he progresses through the school the confusion may become less but the choices and decisions required will increase. The school will rightly expect the pupil to take the first steps to obtain the help he needs, for this is the pattern of adult life for which he has to be prepared, but all the time the opportunities for personal and group advice must be presented in a way which makes them easy to understand and within easy reach of pupils.

16. According to the passage one of the problems for pupils entering secondary school is that _____.

- A. they are taught by many different teachers.
- B. they do not attend lessons in every subject.
- C. the teachers do not want to be friendly.
- D. the teachers give most attention to the more academic pupils.

17. In secondary schools every pupil having problems should _____.

- A. know how to ask for help.
- B. be freed from any pressure of academic work.
- C. be able to discuss his problems in class.
- D. be able to discuss his problems with any teacher.

18. In this passage about secondary schools, the author is mainly concerned about

A. academic standards.

- B. the role of specialist teaches.
- C. the training of the individual teachers.

D. the personal development of pupils.

19. The word "approachable" means most nearly the same as _____.

- A. friendly and easy to talk to
- B. capable of offering accommodation
- C. desirable

D. advisable

20. According to the passage adults usually _____.

- A. think that children learn better in secondary school
- B. neglect their children when they enter secondary school
- C. fail to encourage their children to work hard
- D. fail to know how confusing things may be to a child when he enters secondary

School

Questions 21 - 25 refer to the following passage.

Read and choose the best answer for each question from 4 provided choices The Atacama desert...

.... the perfect for people who are looking for adventure

The Atacama desert in Chile is a spectacular place. There is a very little vegetation, and it looks like the moon- in fact NASA tested lunar vehicles there. There are some very big volcanoes. Hardly anyone lives there, but there are some small villages on the edge of the desert. Life is hard, and everything needs to be imported- food, building materials, and of course, water.

In 1971, it rained in Atacama. People were amazed because the last time it rained there was 400 years earlier, in 1570. It is the driest place in the world. But in the village of Chungungo they are now getting water from the fog clouds which came in from the ocean. Daisy Sasmaya, a villager, says, "We are very happy because now we can have shower every day, and we can water our plants every week."

The sky over the Atacama desert is hardly ever cloudy, so it is one of the best places in the world to see the stars. The biggest observatory in the world is being built on the top of a mountain. "It's the purest air in the air", says journalist Hugh O'Shaughnessy. "At night the sky is incredibly clear- you feel that there is nothing between you and Mars."

21. In the Atacama desert _____

A. it hardly ever rains.

- B. it never rains.
- C. it sometimes rains.
- D. it often rains.

22. The only people who live there are _____

- A. NASA scientists
- B. villagers
- C. builders
- D. All are wrong

23. The people in Chungungo _

- A. have more water than before.
- B. have a lot of water.
- C. can't water their plants.
- D. take shower every week.

24. The Atacama is a very good place to go if you want to _____

- A. see clouds.
- B. see mountains.
- C. see the stars.
- D. All are correct.

25. The Atacama desert is a perfect place for people who _____

- A. are looking for a good job
- B. are relaxing.
- C. are looking a luxurious lifestyles.
- D. are looking for adventure.

PART IV. GAP-FILLING:

Choose the word or phrase A, B, C or D that best fits the blank spaces: Passage 1:

Plants and animals in the temperate zones respond in various ways to the amount of daylight in 24-hour periods. This response to day length is (1) _____ photo periodism. It controls many activities, (2) _____ them the migration of birds, the hibernation of animals, and the flowering of plants. The (3) _____ to respond to day length is linked to an endogenous, or inner, light-sensitive circadian rhythm.

In the temperate zones, day lengths during the natural 24-hour cycle vary (4) _____ the seasons. In winter and spring, the (5) _____ of light lengthens; in summer and autumn, it (6) _____. Organisms in these zones undergo alternate 12-hour phases of light sensitivity. During one 12-hour phase, decreasing (7) _____ to light induces a short-day reaction. For example, deciduous trees under the influence of the shorter days of autumn drop their leaves. During the other 12-hour phase, (8) _____ exposure to light induces a long-day reaction. Deciduous trees grow leaves again during the lengthening days of spring. (9) _____ this description has been greatly simplified, it indicates that through their sensitivity to changes in the duration of light, living things can measure day length to determine the season and the time spans within a season.

The relationship of this "time sense" to circadian rhythms is easily demonstrated. Florists, for example, often "trick" greenhouse plants into (10) blossoms out of season by exposing them to understand seasonal periods of artificial light.
